University Women Feature Fashions in Fellowships

Fellowships program of the American Association of University Women will be featured in a twofold presentation at the Monday general meeting of the Manhattan Beach Branch.

The meeting will convene at the Community Church, 503 South Peck Ave., Manhattan Beach at 7:30 p.m.

"Fashion in Fellowships," a slide-discussion, will be delivered by Mrs. Winston Maltby, fellowship chairman of the Long Beach Branch. The film presents facts about the fellowships program together with an overview of women's fashions in the United States from the 1880's to the present, with a projection into the future. Mrs. Balty developed the film in collaboration with Whittier College.

Mrs. Luigi Salvaneschi, member of the Manhattan Beach Branch, will speak to the group about her experiences as an AAUW fellow in Italy in 1956-1957. She received the fellowship to do advanced study in fourteenth century law.

Mrs. Salvaneschi earned a Doctor of Philosophy degree in medieval history at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa. She has served on the staffs of Valparaiso University, Valparaiso, Indiana; Roosevelt University, Chicago, Illinois; and the American School of Classical Studies, Athens, Greece.

Her husband, also a student of history, holds a Doctorate in Canon Law from the Vatican University of Rome. They have a daughter.

The AAUW fellowships program annually presents individual stipends of 2,000 to 5,000 dollars each to gifted graduate women scholars for advanced study and research. Fellows use their stipends in study of national and international scope.

Outstanding projects have included the study of Icelandic manuscripts, leading to the creation of a guidebook used by United States servicemen; the development of scientific instruments for testing eyesight; and the analysis of Japanese culture and behavior, with resultant assistance to the United States in World War II.

Since the inception of the program in 1888, three million dollars have been awarded to 1500 scholars. Last year 52 national and 57 international awards were granted for study in a wide diversity of subject fields.

A 1962-1965 development in the program was the inauguration of awards for outstanding women teachers of Africa.

Annually the Manhattan Beach Branch contributes funds to the fellowships program. Last year the group gave over 500 dollars, most of it in memoriam of Mrs. Thron Riggs.

The contribution for 1963 will be over 600 dollars, according to Mrs. Lowell Dunham, branch fellowships chairman. Monies are raised by the assessment of individual members and by fund-raising projects.

Interested individuals are invited to attend the meeting as guests, according to Mrs. Orlando Tafuya, program chairman.

Chairman of the evening's hospitality committee will be Mrs. Robert N. Culbert.

Girl Scout Cookie Sale Gets Underway

Thousands of little girls in brown uniforms and their older sisters in green uniforms will approach Torrance shoppers and ring doorbells Friday with the question, "Would you like to buy some cookies?" to herald the beginning of the Cookie Sale of Girl Scouts, Los Angeles Council.

Proceeds from the sale, which lasts through Feb. 22, will provide funds for over half of the expenses of administering Girl Scouts, Los Angeles Council. General operating expenses, including an extensive training program for the 10,000 adult volunteers, registration expenses, program aides, audio-visual material, camp upkeep, office supplies, staff salaries, and all other costs necessary for bringing Scouting to 31,000 girls, are partially defrayed by profits from the sale.

In September 1963 a new group of program levels will be introduced into Girl

Scouting: brownies, intermediates, junior high and senior. Result of an extensive survey by a leading research institution, the change is the first since 1935. Adult Scouts and leaders are currently undergoing intensive training for the transition.

Under the new program, the Brownie level will be designed for girls aged seven and eight with no set requirements to fulfill. Junior Girl Scouts, ages 9, 10 and 11, will develop skills and work toward proficiency badges aimed at exploration.

Girls entering their teens will be Cadettes, with intensive work in distinct area of specialization. Achievement in our areas—social dependability, emergency preparedness, active citizenship and application of the Girl Scout promise—will be measured.

Senior Girl Scouting—ages 15, 16, and 17 will offer girls a means of acquiring and testing the social, recreational and vocation skills they will need as adults.

ADMIRING WHITE ELEPHANTS are (l-r) Mmes. Lars Holt and Harold Scott of the Bishop Montgomery Mothers Club. Articles will be offered for sale at a silent auction to be held at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 20, at the Pen and Quill Restaurant, Manhattan Beach. Luncheon will follow. The public is invited. —PRESS photo
